SGA Fiscal Structure Settled: Personality Conflicts Charged

By Gerry Krebs

On Tuesday April 10, the Senate finally settled the question on the final arrangement of the Fiscal Structure of the Student Government. By an almost unanimous vote the Senate passed a revised proposal of the Constitution Committee for Reorganization of the fiscal Structure. The new Structure as set up will help provide for more presidential and Senatorial input as well as control. Under this new Structure the President will have to submit a budget to the Student Senate before a designated date. In the Senate the budget will be referred to the Senate Finance and Appropriations Committee.

This Committee will be composed of six senators with one serving as chairman. This Committee shall be empowered to review the budget which has been submitted to the Senate.

conduct investigations concerning expenditure of all student Government fund, and their uses. The heads of Student organizations will also be able to give testimony before this committee with regards to any business concerning the Senate is referred to this committee.

After reviewing the Budget the Committee has to refer all of its recommendations for revising the Budget to the Senate. It is the Senate who will have the final say in all Fiscal policy that is passed.

Out of this new arrangement of the Fiscal Structure arose another conflict in the Student Senate. This came in a proposal made by Student Senator Trip Carr. Through this proposal Trip Carr hoped to enact legislation requiring all Committee chairman in this Student Government to be elected Senators. Trip made this proposal because he felt that as these committees belong to the Senate a formal body that they should be under the direction of duly elected representatives of the Senate.

During the discussion on this proposed By-Law, Fred Johnson a sophomore Senator was allowed to read a prepared Statement on this specific topic. Fred Johnson stated that he felt that the proposal by Trip Carr was a personally slanted attack on the person of Bill O'Hare Chairman of the Constitutional Committee. Fred Johnson stated that Ad Hoc Committees are appointed by the Senate president and members of these committees don't have to be Senators. He also brought out that Bill O'Hare was elected to head this committee on his qualification of understanding Constitutional law and was doing a fine job. In summing up Mr. Johnson expressed his belief that this proposal was a reflection of the Senates growing tendencies to become involved in conflicts

Text of Statements By Johnson, Carr

Johnson

Fellow members of this highly respected Student Body. I wish to address you this afternoon with a By-Law dated April 2, 1973 of which I am certain you have received a copy. This interesting, yet revised By-Law proposed by my illustrious colleague, James Carr - "Class President" does not create personality conflicts in Student Government of which I am sure you are all unaware.

After not having received a copy of Mr. Carr's legislation. I managed to procure one from the Senate President. I question Mr. Carr's proposal and intent by challenging him to answer the following questions publically:

1 - Is this By-Law (UNTITLED) expressly directed at Wm O'Hare, Chairman of the Constitution Committee?

2 - If, as you have said, this By-Law is intended to help the Senate channel more effort through its Senators, why then did Ken Huber, a non-senator write the original 2nd page explanation of your proposal?

3 - If, you yourself, are so insistent on "Senate for O'Hare" write your "Proposed ordinance in regard to the passage of the Student Government Activities Budget" in accordance with what you are in concurrence to the Constitution Committees appraisal of Bill O'Hare's qualifications to write and present a bill.

4 - Why have you repeatedly asked to be recognized by the Senate Chair only to hand the floor to Mr. Huber?

The President of the Senate has the Constitutional right to appoint all "Ad Hoc" committees. The Constitution Committee was established as such and a majority of its members popularly elected Mr. O'Hare on the basis of his qualifications and understanding of Constitutional Law. Robert's Rules of Order and the present Student Government Constitution. I am not, of course, contending that this Senate does not have the power to regulate committee membership, however, in this instance, the regulation has not been directed towards the general question of committee composition, but rather it has been aimed at one individual - Bill O'Hare. It is my opinion that Bill O'Hare has successfully fulfilled his role as chairman and spokesman of the Constitution Committee. Against his wishes he has been enveloped by the insane personality conflicts of Student

Underwood Inspected

Ed Gaimor

Last month the Student Life Commission issued a statement calling for the granting of rebates to Underwood residents who have endured unsatisfactory living conditions this year. On Monday, April 2, a committee of five conducted an inspection of the apartments in order to determine the cost of awarding rebates to the students.

The committee consisted of Dr. David Roswell; Mr. Gene Cairns, Physical Plant Director; Steve Strausbaugh, RSA President; Scott Smith; and, alternately, either Dean Yanchik or Dean Sedivy. Each member of this committee rated the individual apartments on a scale of 0 to 4, a 0 indicating satisfactory conditions and a 4 signifying major disrepair. The five figures were then averaged to determine an apartment's rating. A rating of 1 means each student in an apartment is to receive a $25 credit rebate, a rating of 2, $50, and so on. At a meeting of the Student Life Commission this past Monday, Dr. Roswell related the committee's findings.

The group inspected 27 apartments, of which only nine were given ratings of more than 0. Six apartments were awarded a 1 rating and three were given a rating of two, amounting to a total of $1,150 in proposed rebates, not even the equivalent of one student's yearly room and board. Most of the unsatisfactory ratings, it was pointed out, were due to malfunctioning ovens or to water leakage.

Dr. Roswell remarked that the majority of the apartments seemed to be in good shape, but that they looked worse than they were because of the poor condition of the furniture. He also noted that while there were various minor items among the repairs that could be traced directly to student misuse, there were only about three apartments that suffered seriously from student-caused damage.

The results of the inspection must still be given to Dean Yanchik, hopefully in time for presentation at the Budget Committee meeting on Monday, April 16. The dean will also receive a detailed list of the repairs to be made to each of the apartments, as will Mr. Cairns, whose responsibility it will be to determine the cost of the repairs and the amount that various students will be billed if the SLC's plan is given final approval.

Government and now faces criticism based primarily upon his views not his performance.

In recent debate over the present Budget Committee, Bill O'Hare represented the opinion of the Constitution Committee while the representative of the Budget Committee was overshadowed and outspoken by his counterpart Mr. Huber, who obtained the floor through the courtesy of several of my colleagues thereby allowing him to dominate debate.

I question and strongly object to the following actions presently taking place in Student Government (1) The Right of Ken Huber to possess a key to the Office of the Vice-President. (2) His right to speak for the Budget Committee after Ed Derenberger was duly appointed its spokesman. (3) The right of some senators to call themselves representatives of the Student Body. (4) In view of their contention that the Senate be another advisory board to the President. (5) Finally, the students judgement to re-elect these Senators to their positions when the student body has had the opportunity to see these people, in open Senate meetings, and have not used it.

My hope is that the above statement will open the eyes of Representatives and Students,

Student Government. Now realizing the inability of the Senate Government. Now realizing the inability of the Senate President to run an efficient Senate due to the absence of responsibility within the Senate. I am prepared to relinquish my Senate position and not seek re-election if this By-Law passes. I feel that I will be totally ineffective as a member of a Student Government which bases, "Policy on Personality."

Regretfully, this statement may offend the responsible members of this body - this is not my intent. Rather, I am appealing to those senators who have failed to fulfill their responsibilities. Hopefully, this move on my part will help generate the role of a "Responsible Senate."

Carr's Reply

In his opening paragraph, Mr. Johnson expresses disgust at "the corrupt politics and cheap personality conflicts in Student Govt." Mr. Johnson then proceeds hypocritically to create personal conflict by using corrupt politics to wage a public personal attack on me. His whole manner in treating this issue contradicts with his beliefs about Student government.

When Mr. Johnson received a copy of this proposal he approached me about it and threatened me in front of witnesses that if I did not withdraw this proposal he would personally see to it that there would be no Crab Feast this May. By this threat, it is clear to me that Mr. Johnson is willing to sacrifice the general good and enjoyment of the entire Student body to satisfy his ego by getting revenge against me.

1. This by law was not directed at Mr. O'Hare but it was directed to the Student Senate who have refused to accept their responsibility by failing to complete their duty in chairing committees. Why have Senate committees if outsiders are running them? Why have Senate debates and reports when the people who participate in them are not members of the Senate?

2. I am the first to admit that Huber write the explanation and that is why Bill O'Hare and I personally removed the explanation before anyone could read it. I gave the explanations to Bill who said he would throw the copies away before anyone else could see it. Yet by coincidence a copy managed to fall in your hands not soon after, a situation which Mr. O'Hare could not explain.

3. I have no argument with Mr. O'Hare's qualifications to write constitutional law. Mr. O'Hare came to me and asked me if we could together rewrite my proposal so that we could work out our disagreements on the issue. Mr. O'Hare did not write my proposal for me, he rewrote it with me.

4. Mr. Johnson admitted to another Senator that question number four was a lie but he added it for emphasis. Emphasis on my personal character because I have never given the Senate floor to Ken Huber in my life and Mr. Johnson knows this.

As far as Mr. O'Hare's views are concerned we have had little disagreement in the past and I respect his opinions even if I don't like them. As I said above I have never given the floor to Ken Huber so I was not responsible for his domination of the debate. In fact, as I said in response to question one that I was disgusted by the fact that it turned into a personal debates between two non members of the Senate. ....

Nixon's Budget

Financial Aid Cutback

By Joanne Stafford

The proposed Budget of the Nixon Administration, if passed in its present form, will have serious effect on those students now receiving aid through federal programs.

In response to GREYHOUND inquiry, Mr. O'Neill, Director of the Office of Financial Aid prepared the following statement, explaining the Budget's proposal and its implications for Loyola students:

FINANCIAL AID

Approximately 53.1% of all students in the Loyola Day Division receive financial aid in some form either through college or outside sources. The majority of these students receive funds from the three traditional Federal Student Aid Programs - The National Direct Student Loan, College-Work Study and Educational Opportunity Grant programs, administered by the Office of Financial Aid with funds allocated by the Office of Education, HEW.

Congress is now holding hearings on the President's Budget which, despite the legal requirement to fund these programs at reasonable levels, does not provide funds at all for either new or renewal NDSL loans, projects serious cut backs in the College Work Study Program and eliminates entirely funds for the Educational Opportunity Program, the latter program intended for low income families.

What the President's Budget does propose is two-fold:

1. A new Basic Opportunity Grant (BOG) of $1400 to each college student less the expected family contribution based upon a 23 point computation. The Grant is limited to 1/2 the cost of attending the college of the student's choice.

2. Student loans would be processed by the student's own local bank through the State Guaranteed Loan Programs sponsored by each state.

The BOG Program will result in serious impact upon private college students due to its limitation of the grant formula: $1400 less total family contribution (including assets and income of the student as well as his family) and the grant limited to 1/2 the cost of college attendance.

The withdrawal of the Federal Government from the Student Loan Program will force students to borrow money from their local banks instead of the present 3% simple interest rate applicable to Federal National Direct Student Loans. Further, the ability of the private banking sector to fund all students is suspect - in view of the current interest rate in the normal consumer loan market (12% simple interest and higher).

The President's Budget has touched off a tremendous controversy between the White House and Congress - a controversy that cannot be solved until late May, 1973, when Congress considers appropriations action on the budget submitted by the President.

Hearings are now under way on the Educational portion of that budget. It is important for every Loyola student to know that our President, Father Sellinger, is in the forefront of the fight to impress upon Congress the urgency of the need to continue Federal Student Aid Programs at a level consistent with need. Letters to our Representatives in Congress have already been mailed.

The Financial Aid Office is keeping in daily touch with the Congressional consideration of student aid programs. Letters to students and parents already receiving help under the NDSL Program have been mailed suggesting the State Guaranteed Loan Programs as an alternative source of loan monies.

As soon as Congress acts we will advise all aid applicants of their decision. In the meantime, the Director of Financial Aid offers the services of his office for financial counselling to students and their families.

Note: Mr. O'Neill urges those students who need to apply for financial aid for the upcoming school year not to be deterred in view of the Administration's proposals and to file applications by the May 1st deadline. He emphasized that he will do all in his power to give the students necessary help.

Johnson's Reply

To answer number 4, I did not add that statement for emphasis. I attacked only Trip's proposal and the integrity behind such legislation. I am prepared to uphold my recent statement entirely. I gave this statement to a Greyhound reporter upon his request. Trip, how can I stop a Junior Class crab feast; it is sponsored by your class, not mine. To answer your questions:

1 The optional fee appropriated by the students through the activities bill will be spent for the sole purpose of hiring professionals.

2 As of now, chartering Mary PIRG as a student organization is not necessary for the 15 colleges involved. Loyola College and the University of Baltimore did so because it was the only action they could take to get appropriations. Loyola is the only school that financed and directed a project, the toy survey.

over personalities in the Senate and that Senate was failing to live up to its responsibilities as a legislative body.

After this Statement the proposal was voted down.

Another incident which reflected the growing conflict in the Senate was an address by Senior Senator Ron LaMartina. In this Statement Ron expressed his belief that the Senate was losing sight of its basic functions by becoming involved in this personality conflict. He believes that the Senate is splitting up into different power groups competing against one another making the Senate a stagnant body. Ron expressed his desire that the Senate would be able to overcome these difficulties and direct itself to the pressing problems of the student community. Some of these problems are undergraduate studies, problems in the Placement Office, and one of the biggest difficulties on campus the parking problem.

The Social planning committee is writing up the calendar of events for next year. If any clubs or organizations want to sponsor a mixer or a social event, please contact the chairman of the social event, please contact the chairman of the social planning committee - Maureen Boulter Hammerman House Rm 300 or any member of the committee - Joanne Stafford, Tom Surface, Marty Sejas, Dianne Harrison, Steve Bradley, Tripp Carr or Nick Morocco. These people can be reached either in person or by their mailboxes outside the Student Personnel Office.

Loyola has received a plea for pre-school toys in good condition from a nursery school in Baltimore for retarded and emotionally disturbed children. Since this school has no budget, they are in destitute of any kind of toys - educational, sound, pull, puzzles, balls, blocks, dolls, etc. Anyone wishing to donate one or several toys, which are again in good condition, can either call Lorna Patterson (wife of Dr. Patterson) at 323-6837 or drop them off at 208 E. Cold Spring Lane. They will be greatly appreciated.

The Blue Line

By Greg Miller

"I really should have transferred outta here," muttered the Duffer. Brian Duffy sat in his MGB; the motor was idling. Everytime a girl passed he'd feed some more gas into the engine and it would rev up. The wind was picking up and swirled off of the courts and down past the car where we sat and talked. "I know I've gotten worse since high school but Davis (he always referred to the Dude as just plain Davis) should have gone real far."

The last time the Dude met Brian it was in a Catholic invitation tourney at Van Saun Park in Paramus New Jersey. The Dude had polished him off that year just as easily as Loyola had polished the Mount off last Thursday. Last year Dude was off the team when Brian beat Kirby and the Mount edged Loyola. This year the Dude was back and the Mount bit the dust.

When I think of how frustrated Brian must get when Davis is around I am reminded that only Ernie comes quite as close. Bob Moran (called Ernie because he looks like Ernie of My Three Sons) has always come in second place playing tennis because he lived across the street from the Dude and both played for Essex Catholic. I can understand what frustration accompanies second place because I played behind Brian in high school. All of this name dropping is quite coincidental because Brian and Ernie came quite close to coming to Loyola.

Two things might have happened if they had come to this school. One of the changes would have taken place last year. We might not have been as raunchy as we were that year. Ernie and Brian would have given us the depth that Dave Jenkins, the sixth man, supplied in the 1970 championship year. Another possible difference would have been the fact that with those people coming to this school I would have flunked out my freshman year.

Brian and I had handicaps. In the immaculate Heart Catholic's courts. Gina Owens alma mater, IHA, was an all girl's school. Another handicap our team suffered from was that Brian was the horniest guy in the world. Love those 3:00 practices when IHA let out! My own personal handicap was Brian. I never got beyond second place. Being number two is frustrating; ask Ernie about it.

Ernie is no longer playing college tennis. When he does pick up a racquet it's to play the Dude. Brian is now a senior and still very much involved in tennis at the Mount, but the Mountain men will never be number one while Loyola and the Dude are still around.

Loyola Beats Mount In Tennis Opener Jacobis Shuts Out McGilly

By Greg Miller

Phil Jacobis shut out his man and the rest of the singles breezed past their opponents last Thursday afternoon as Loyola completely dominated Mount St. Mary's in the season's tennis opener. Despite the high winds and the Mount's home court advantage, the Hounds reversed last year's defeat at the hands of the Mountain men, 7 1/2 to 1 1/2.

In one of the quicker matches of his career, Jacobis blanked Charles McGilly 6-0, 6-0. John Davis and John Shields didn't experience Jacobis' ease in defeating their opponents as their matches went out to three sets.

Davis lost his first set 3-6 and was behind in the second set 1-2, 3-4, 4-5. Each player won his own serve. At 4-5 and down 0-30 the wind helped Loyola. A sudden gust changed the direction of a Charles Gallagher forehand. A point that might have made it match point brought Davis within distance of evening up the match. Davis finally pulled the match out 9-7 and 7-5.

John Shields had problems at the start of his match. John couldn't get used to the spins that Brian Duffy put on his returns. "It took me a set to learn how to play that stuff," commented Shields. The number three man lost the first set 4-6, before turning in scores of 6-1 and 6-3.

The last three singles were almost uncontested as Tillman, DeLeon and Velez brushed aside their men. In the doubles Shields and Jacobis defeated McGilly and Duffy 6-3, 6-3. Kirby and Tillman dropped a close doubles match to Lumbardo and Bradley 4-6, 5-7. The Kirby-Tillman doubles match was played as an afterthought since Loyola had already won the match.

Phil Jacobis smashes forehand enroute to a 6-0, 6-0 Mountie mash.

Stickmen Finally Win, Delaware Is Victim Kellerman Fires In Winner

by Steve Wegener

Coming off a 12-4 defeat by Baltimore U. last Thursday, the team is finally playing up to its potential. The defense had a great game and Jamie Slafkosky had a good day in the nets with 20 saves. The real difference in the Delaware game was the hustle on ground balls and the tough defense. The lacrosse team is finally back in the win column.

Loyola's lacrosse team got their first win of the season Saturday, defeating the University of Delaware, 6-5. Loyola took a quick lead, scoring 3 goals in the first three minutes. The scoring pace slowed in the second quarter and Delaware started to come back with the half ending 5-3, Loyola. In the fourth quarter the Delaware stickmen tied it up on a goal by John Kamp. Then late in the fourth quarter John Kellerman got a feed from Paul Awalt to score the winning goal.

Kellerman advances toward the Delaware goal.

Tillman slices a backhand on his way to the net.

Baseball Team Splits Twin Bill

Loyola vs. Bridgewater

First Game

LOYOLA SCORING—Freshman centerfielder Steve Cohill led off the top of the sixth with a lined single. Number three hitter, Phil Bach, expertly placed a sacrifice bunt to move Cohill into scoring position for clean-up hitter, Bill Walter. Walter tagged a long fly-ball double into right-center which easily scored Cohill from second. The "M&M" boys who flank centerfielder Cohill in the outfield, Bryan Moorhouse and Tom Mulford, then drew back-to-back walks. Freshman, Al Bach then hit a hard grounder to third which ricocheted off the third baseman's glove into foul territory, and Bill Walter scored the second and final run for the Greyhounds. With one out and the bases loaded the Hound threat ended as Bridgewater's Bo Trumbo struck out Mike Muller and Al DiLella to retire the side.

Second Game

Sophomore Tom Pierotti lost a heart-breaker in Loyola's second game attempt to sweep a doubleheader from host Bridgewater. The contest was played in a constant drizzle. Pierotti pitched a strong game for the second time this year and all he has to show for it is an 0-1 record. Tom was picked to toss the season's opener at Georgetown and was effective for 8 1/3 innings against the Hoya's, before Loyola blew a 4-2 lead and lost 5-4. Tom escaped being the pitching of record against Georgetown. In last Saturday's 1-0 loss to Bridgewater Pierotti looked strong and his control was good, but Loyola's bats were of no help to the classy southpaw. Pierotti was ahead on the count most of the time, but ran into a little trouble in Bridgewater's half of the 4th inning. With one down, the Eagle's third baseman, Bill Siple beat out an infield grounder to the right side. Siple wasted little time in advancing to scoring position by stealing second base. Mike Muller's peg to second base was a bit too far up the line for shortstop Bill Kessler to handle, and the Eagle's had their first and only man of the afternoon in scoring position. Following a ground out from Kessler to Walter which held Siple at second, catcher Bob Scott drilled a two-out single between third and short to knock in the winning run. Unfortunately for Pierotti the Loyola hitters took the afternoon off after their first game victory.

Bridgewater's Andy Hence pitched a fine game and came within five outs of tossing a no-hitter at Loyola.

Loyola's Mason-Dixon Conf. record dropped to 2-1 while their overall record evened at 2-2. Hopefully, when the "rains" stop, and the weather warms up, the Hound bats will come alive to compliment the fine jobs down by the pitching staff so far.
